Numerical weather prediction (NWP) uses mathematical models of the atmosphere and oceans to predict the weather based on current weather conditions. Though first attempted in the 1920s, it was not until the advent of computer simulation in the 1950s that numerical weather predictions produced realistic results. A number of global and regional forecast models are run in different countries ...

VERIFICATION AND VALIDATION OF CFD SIMULATIONS

Stamping (also known as pressing) is the process of placing flat sheet metal in either blank or coil form into a stamping press where a tool and die surface forms the metal into a net shape. Stamping includes a variety of sheet-metal forming manufacturing processes, such as punching using a machine press or stamping press, blanking, embossing, bending, flanging, and coining.

Systems Simulation: The Shortest Route to Applications. This site features information about discrete event system modeling and simulation. It includes discussions on descriptive simulation modeling, programming commands, techniques for sensitivity estimation, optimization and goal-seeking by simulation, and what-if analysis.

Effects of temperature-dependent viscosity on fluid flow

1.. Introduction Over the past 50 years, literally hundreds of building energy programs have been developed, enhanced and are in use. The core tools in the building energy field are the whole-building energy simulation programs, which provide users with key building performance indicators such as energy use and demand, temperature, humidity, and costs.

Overview. HEAT2 is a PC-program for two-dimensional transient and steady-state heat transfer. The program is along with the three-dimensional version HEAT3 used by more than 1000 consultants and 100 universities and research institutes worldwide.
